

30th of April

The Newly Elected Prime Minister
10 Downing Street
London
W1

Dear Newly Elected Prime Minister,
Congratulations on being elected. My name is Ione Goodwin and I am writing to share my ideas to improve Britain throughout the next five years. Nowadays Britain is being referred to as broken Britain so we have to come up with new ways to get Britain out of this mess.

Education

I believe that children are our future. By providing them a good education were by they can develop their skills, knowledge, and self confidence on an individual level, we would be creating a generation of people who could work and contribute to society in a positive way. By employing more teachers and more teaching assistance we can help insure a better education.

Environment

The environment is the one thing that most people ignore. As Prime Minister, I think you should give more support to local farmers so that foods do not have to be imported, and Britain does not have to rely on china to provide us with food. Also by giving more support to farmers we can reduce our carbon footprint, which would lead to a healthier world.

I hope I have given you some ways to improve Britain in the next five years to come!
And if you need a deputy, just call!!!
Yours Sincerely, Ione Goodwin.