Guess who?

Secretly choose a class mate (or a famous celebrity) and keep this person in your mind's eye. Make brief notes about that person. Consider:

Looks/physical appearance (What is their smile like? Chin shape?)	Skills (What can they do well?)
Voice and speech patterns (High/low? Fast/slow?)	Habits, manners (Patient? Fidgety?)
Other things you want to say about them

Develop each set of notes into a simile that is a clue to that person's identity. Number them in the order you plan to read them to the class. Can they guess who you are describing?

HINTS

Remember, if you make your first clue too easy, someone may guess who you've chosen straight away. So, make early clues broad (eg, His hair is as black as coal) and make later clues narrower (eg, He runs as fast as the wind).
