

COMPUTER POEM

A trojan's invaded!
My memory has faded!
My software's depleted,
And I'm feeling cheated!

I'm fearing the end.
My emails won't send,
And my internet link
Has gone on the blink.

I'm starting to dread it.
When I click on Edit
My page is selected,
But the trojan just wrecks it.

I can't save a file
Or change my font style.
My toolbar's on hold
And I can't print in bold.

No borders or frames,
No computerised games.
And my great Google™ page
Just will not engage.

This security scam
Has crashed my webcam.
My files are deleted!
I think I'm defeated.

My anti-virus protection
Can't fight this infection,
So I must employ
A Search and Destroy!

This trojan will know
His spyware must go.
I will win this war to debug.
But right now... I just need a HUG!
