Oliver Twist online

Imagine your friend has never used a resource like the Oliver Twist website before. How would you show them around? Make some notes, using these questions as prompts.

What is on the first screen?

How do you get to the next screen?

Write a brief description of the page (so your friend will recognise it).

Where can they go next and what will they find there?

Tell them about any other links that are interesting.

What makes this better than a book?

What could you add to it?

Was there anything you did not like about it?
