Recipe for a good report

Rewrite this sentence using the first person, imagining that this child is you.

The child walked down the corridor.

Now add an adjective to describe the corridor.

Now add an adverb to describe how you walked down the corridor.

On the end of your sentence, add the word until. Then say what happened next – eg: ...until I came to a door.

Now write a second sentence to describe how you felt. Try to use interesting words – eg: I was trembling with fear.

Next, write a third sentence to describe what you saw. Try to use descriptive words – eg: I saw a huge skeleton with razor-sharp teeth.

Finally, add a question – eg: It didn't just move... did it?

Put all four sentences together.

Do you like what you have written?
 Could you make it sound even better?
